Garden State of the West. THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD GOMPANY

IN THE

HAVE FOR SALE 1,000,000 Acres RICH FARMING LANDS

TRACTS OF FORTY ACRES AND UPWARDS LONG CREDIT AND AT LOW PRICES.

MECHANICS, PARMERS AND WORKING MEN. The attention of the enterprising and industrious parties of the community is directed to the following statements and lib-eral inducements offered them by the ILLINOIS GENTRAL BAILBOAD COMPANY, which, as they will perceive, will enable them, by proper 'energy, perseverance and industry, to provide comfortable and permanent homes for themselves and families, with, comparatively speaking, very little capital.

LANDS OF ILLINOIS. No State in the Valley of the Minsissippl offers so great an inducement to the aettler as the State of Illinois. There is no portion of the world where all of the conditions of climate and soil so admirably combine to produce those two great staples, Come and Wheat, as the Prairies of Illinois. RICH ROLLING PRAIRIE LANDS.

The deep rich learn of the prairies is cultivated with such won-derful facility that the farmers of the Eastern and Middle States are moving to Illinois in area: numbers. The area of Illinois is about equal to that of England, such the soil is so rich that it will support twenty millions of people. BASTERN AND SOUTHERN MARKETS.

These lands are contiguous to a railroad 700 miles in length, which connects with other reads, and navigable lakes and rivers, thus affording an unbroken communication with the Eastern and Southern markets. APPLICATION OF CAPITAL Thus far capita' and labor have been applied to developing the soil; the great resources of the State in coal and Iron are almost untouched. The invariable rule that the mechanic arts flourish best where food and fuel are cheapest, will follow at an early day in Illinois, and in the course of the next len years the natural laws and necessities of the case warrant the belief that least five hundred thousand people will be engaged in the State of Illinois in the various manufacturing employments. RAILBOAD SYSTEM OF ILLINOIS.

Over $190,000,000 of private capital have been expended on the railroad system of Illinois. Inasmuch as part of the in-come from several of these works, with a valuable public fund in lands, go to dimpinsh the State Expenses, the TAXES ARE LIGHT, and must, consequently, every day decrease. THE STATE DEST.

The State Debt is only $10,105,306 14, and within the last three years has been reduced $2,955,746 80; and we may reasonably expect that in ten years It will become extinct. PRESENT POPULATION. The State is rapidly filling up with population; 868,026 per sons having been added since RSO, making the present population 1,719,496—a ratio of 102 per cent in 10 years.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS. The Agricultural Products of Illinois are greater then those of any other State. The Products sert out during the past year exceeded 1.500,000 tuns. The wheat crop of 1860 approaches 35,000,000 at bushels, while the corn crop yields not less than FERTILITY OF SOIL.

Nowhere can the industrious farmer secure such immediate re suits for his labor as upon these prairie soils, they being com posed of a deep, rich learn, the fartility of which is unsurpassed by any on the globe.

by any on the globe.

TO ACTUAL GULTIVATORS.

Since 1854 the iompany have sold 1.300,000 acres. They sell only to actual cultivators, and every contract contains an agreement to cultivates. The road has been construct est through these lands of an expense of $30,000,000. In 1853, the population of forty-niae counties through which it passes the only 335,538, since which, 479,233 have been added, making the whole population $14,891—a cain of $125,000. a gain of 143 per cent.

EVIDENOUS OF PROSPERITY.

As an evidence of the thrift of the people, it may be stated the 500,000 tuns of freight, including 8,500,000 bushels of grain and 250,000 barrels of flour, were forwarded over the line last EDUCATION.

Machanics and working men will find the free school system encouraged by the State and endowed with a large revenue for the support of schools Their children can live in might of the church and school houses, and grow up with the prosperity of the leading State in the Great Western Empire. PRICES AND TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The prices of these lands vary from $5 to $25 per acre, according to location, quality, &c. First-class farming lands sell for about $10 or $12 per acre, and the relative expense of subduing prairie land as compared with wood land is in ratio of 1 to 10 in favor of the former. REJUVENATING ELIXIR! Prepared on the strictest Pharmnesutical principles by one of the ablest Chemists of the age.

CELEBRATED

Titlis is altegether a new medicine, the result of modern discoveries in the vegetable kingdom, being an entirety new and abstract method of cure, irrespective of all the eld and worn out systems published by accomplished quarks to the selfering. Dr. Wright, well knowing the deception practised upon the uninitiated, fell it his duty at once to have this Elixir tested by the whole Medical Faculty, who, without even one dissenting veice, have given in their adherence to its perfect and undivided control over the whole physical man when his Trame has been reduced, and when all other medicines known to the Pharmaco peaks have been tried in vain. Long thought years of patient investigation, and a will degree on dura determination have crowned the Booter's efforts, and he now offers the Mixir to suffering humanity as the only thing that can once the following diseases—namely:

tal and Physical Depression, Cility, Determination of Blood to the Head,
Confused Ricas,
Hysicria,
General Irritability, Absences and Siceplessness at Night,
Absence of Muscular Efficiency,
Loss of Appellte,

Disorganisation of the Organs of Generation, Palpitation of the Hearf, And, in fact, all the concemitants of a nervous and debilitated As a Stimulant,

It is quite different from alsoholic preparations. It is not sub-ject to reactions in any shape; it continues to exert its influence gradually and efficiently, as long as the least necessity exists for As a Female Medicine, It is equally powerful and effective, and restores the equilibrian sooner and safer than all the other medicines which for year have fooded the market, and which are only injurious, in place of assisting or removating Cs constitution : for a very good rea son, tro, that they are only made from the effusions of mind gnorant of the Medical profession altogother. No Minerals ! Dr. Wright thinks it well to make his professional character on the fact, that no minerals whatever form the least component parts of the ingredients of his Rejuvenating Elixir—well know-ing what ruin has been entailed on the community by optum and moreury.

Generally, to the debilitated, Dr. Wright would say, Never despair. No matter how worn down you may be, no matter how weak you are—no matter what the cause may have been—forsake at once whatever has led you to depart from Hygienic principles Rejuvenating Elixir,

And you will seen find yourself a new man—a pride instead o the reverse, to your friends, and a healthy, sound, and worthy asember of the human family.

Great Fire in London.

The English papers are filled with an account of a great fire which took place in London, on the evening of June 22, at which several lives were lost, and property valued at $5,800,000 destroyed.

hange to be made.

The fire occurred in the bonded warehouses of desars, Scovell, in Tooley street, Southwark. The building were filled with valuable merchandise of every description. There were some thousands of chests of ten and bales of silk stored in the upper floors, while in the lower, was an immense stock of Russian tallow and tar, oils, bales of cotton, hope

About 6 P. M. smoke was seen issuing from the hemp and jute stored on the first floor. On the arrival of the fire brigade their attention was drawn to smoke also coming out of the windows of the warehouses which adjoined. This fact excited some surprise, as it was known that strong party-walls divided the buildings, and it was then ascer-tained that the workpoople had made the fatal mistake of not closing the iron doors which commu-nicated with the several floors throughout the range. Mr. Braidwood, Superintendent of the Fire Brig-ade, at once predicted that the fire would become one of great magnitude. The two powerful floating fire engines and the whole force of the fire brigade were soon on the scene of action, but most of them had to remain idle for nearly an hour, owing to a deficient supply of water. About 71 o'clock, after posting his men in the most advantageous mainer, Mr. Braidwood Supt, entered the gateway leading to the wharf near St. Olave's church, where four of his men were supporting and lirecting two branches from the when water was scattered over them. That adjacent buildings also contained a large quantity of tallow and oil which ran down through the loop-holes in a stream to the vaults as the warehouses ignited. At intervals there were loud reports, as foreman of the wharf had assured the firemen that those warehouses contained no explosive material though he admitted that there was a large stock of saltpetre in another part of the wharf.

All of a sulden a terrific explosion occurred. In an instant it was seen that the whole of the frontage of the second warehouse was coming down, falling outwards into the avenue. Mr. Henderson shouted for all to run. The men dropped their branches. Two, with Mr. Henderson escaped by the front galeway, and the others ran in the oppo-alte direction on to the wharf, where they jumped nto the river. Mr. Braidwood made an effort to follow Mr. Henderson, but was struck down by the upper part of the wall, and buried beneath some tons of brickwork. His death must have been in-stantaneous. Several of his men rushed to extricate him, hopeless as the task was, but another explosion happening, they were compelled to fly.

The exertions of the brigade were quite powerless to check the progress of the fiames. It is scarcely possible to describe the consternation which prevailed. From the rapid explosions which followed, it was thought that there must have been a large stock of saltpetre in every one of the warehouses. The concussions shook the neighborhood, and scattered clouds of the burning fragments over the panic-stricken district. At about 10 o'clock the fire seemed at its worst. It was not till night fell that the tremendous terrora of the spectacle could be appreciated in all their horrid grandeur. Never since the fire of 1666 had such a scene been witnessed. The whole south bank of the river, from London Bridge to below the Custom House, seemed one stupendous pile of fire. glowing at its core with an intensity that made it painful to look at, and easting a ruddy glare above on everything far and near. The flames at midnight seemed to advance with a racking roar that was terrible, with its millions of burning flakes filling the air as if the very atmoshere was on fire, and the great ranks of red flame flapping about their keen thin points with a dull noise, and leaping up high over the houses with bounds and spurts like fountains of fire. Spreading far and wide amid gaunt ruins of walls, cracked and riven out of shape, lay a perfect sea of fire almost as white as snow, from which the red flames spring in massive leaps, and scatter like explosions myriads of charred embers high into the air. Now a puff of wind will act on the ruins far and wide, like a blast through a furnace, and they spring into a whiteness to which the glare of sunlight is mere darkness. While these gleams last the spectacle is tremendous. On every side are only great vistas of rugged walls and white gleaming streets, the very pavements of which give off a livid glare that is blinding to look at. The walls, white with heat, seem like pillars of fire, against which, as the breeze drops, the flames rise again, and, licking up their sides, seem to flap against them, and brings the glowing bricks down in long atreams. On every side a great mass of flames is struggling. Nothing can be seen but a town of falling ruins, with great rafters awaying about in fiery tangles before they fall headlong down-nothing heard but the roar of flames and shouts of excited thousands, which drown even incessant dull thumpings of the engines that are working in all directions. The nes spread till they advanced to Chamberlain's wharf, where a sloop and several barges were burned, the rest of the shipping having been previously hauled out into the stream. A little after the midnight, the wind fell, and a few hours after, all danger of the extension of the fire was at an end. Not less than 35 buildings and warehouses were destroyed. The loss of life is not yet cor-rectly ascertained, but probably not less than ten persons were killed. Their remains had not been

News from Washington.

Correspondence of the Baltimore Excharge, WASHINGTON, July 9, 1861 .- A flag of truce is now in the city from Gen. Beauregard. It seeks an exchange of prisoners, and protests against cruel outrages perpetrated by Federal soldiers upon private and unarmed citizens of Virginia. Gen. Mc-Dowell, of the Federal farces, accompanies the flag, and will leave with it to-night or to-morrow for Falls Church. Gen. McDowell was with Gen. Scott two hours last night. He recommends that no attack be made with less than 50,000 men, and that they be divided into three columns. Scott believes that the entire success of the war depends on the first important engagement, and while a forward movement is going on in the rear guard of the army, the reserve corps and sappers and miners are engaged in erect ing earthworks in the immediate neighborhood of the city. These fortifications now extend from Alexandria to Georgetown. There is every reason to believe that Gen. McDowell has received his orders to march with the main body of his column (33,000) for Manassas; so that we may expect to hear of a grand pitched battle probably on Monday next. Owing to reinforcements sent to Gen. Johnston, the real strength of Beauregard's army at the Capture of Colonel Richard Thomas. From the Ba'dimore Son, July 9.

On Sunday, from information received of the whereabouts of several parties charged with hav-ing participated in the riot of the 19th of April, Lieut Carmichael, of Col. Kenly's police, with another, left on a tug boat for Fairhaven, and succeeded in the arrest of Cornelius Green and another. Colonel Richard Thomas, of St. Mary's, who is alleged to have been engaged in the capture of the St. Nicholas and the three schoeners, laden with coal, ice and coffee, got on board the steamer Washington at Millstone landing, on the Pataxent river, for the purpose of coming to this city. When the boat reached Fairbaven the officers got on board with the company of the co with their prisoners, and among the passengers already on board were the crew of the St. Nicholas and these of the captured schooners. At this point the friends of Col. Thomas remonstrated against his coming to Baltimore, though they were ignorant of the presence of the officers on board, but he per-sisted in his determination, and against all entreaty that could be used by declared that he would come up. Shortly after the boat left, the pilot of the schooner which was laden with coffee informed the officers of the presence of Col. Thomas, and they at once arrested him. They then drew their pistols and took their positions on the quarter deck to prevent the possibility of escape by the small boats. Col. T. at once determined to leave the boat if possible, but no opportunity was afforeded him. Capt. Weems was then ordered to step at Fort McHenry, and on reaching that point all the prisoners and witnesses, an aggregate of about twenty men, were landed, but Col. T. was not to be found, and the order was given to push off, after the boat had been thoroughly searched in every part; just as the boat left the warf, however he was found in a bureau engine. By this time the warshouse in which the fire commenced was gutted, but the enormous stock of tallow which had been stowed in the lower floors caused the flames to rise to a considerable height, and, if anything, they raged more furiously when water was contracted from the flames from the floating in the ladies' cabin, where some of the lady passengers had concealed him, and he too was landed at the Fort. Erowan, Ga., July 12, 1861.—I returned last night from a visit to our friends in the Confederate Army. at General Johnston's Camp, near Winchester, Va. I dired at the Camp on Tuesday, the 9th inst., and arrived here last night. To save inquiry, I give the following facts:

My observation was confined to the following points: Manassas Junction, Stranburg and Wincheser-these being the localities where Gens. Besuregard and Johnston, with their forces, are located. Connected with these, the interesting localities are Alexandria and Arlington, on the Potomac, where the main body of Lincoln's Army rests and is fortified. These are on the west bank of the Putomacthe first nine miles and the latter two miles from Washington city. Both command a plain view of the city—the river only between. The enemy's forces at these points are not certainly known to e-supposed to be thirty or forty thousand men. Three railroads lead out from Alexandria, one up the Potomac to Leesburg—which is near the fost of the Blue Ridge, and about 50 miles from Alexandria—perhaps more. Another railroad leads from Alexandris to Hampshire. Along the lines of these roads are the points Vienna and Falls Church -from 10 to 15 miles from Alexandria. A third leads to Lynchburg, Va., Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn., and connects at Gordonaville, in Orange county, with a road that leads to Richmond. Coming west, 30 miles from Alexandria, this road connects with the Manassas road, which leads to Strasburg, 60 miles; thence to Manassas Gap; from which it takes its name. This Gap is the pass over the Blue Ridge. Near the junction of these two roads is General Besuregard's headquarters. His army occupies the country on all these roads; to within six and twelve miles of Alexandria and Ar-Fairfax Court House is between these roads, four miles from the Orange railroad. How many men Gen. Beauregard has, I do not know. He has 1,500 men at Leesburg, and holds that place. The enemy occupy the north of the Potomac, from Georgetown

Strasburg, on the Manassas railroad, is the point of leaving the railroad, by turnpike road, to go to Winchester, 16 miles. Thence, there is a railroad to Harper's Ferry, thirty miles. Charlestown, where John Brown was hung, is on this road, 25 miles from Winchester. Williamsport is on the Potomac, above Harper's Ferry. Thance coming south twelve miles, is Martinsburg with 2,000 or 3,000 inhabitants. Thence, by turnpike twenty-two miles, is Winchester. On the way, seven miles from Martinsburg, is Buckelstown, called Darkesville. Three miles from this is Bunker Hill. Winchester has about 7,000 inhabitants, and is Gen. Johnston's headquarters, and his army are

Patterson, with all his army, said to be 25,000 men, are at Martinsburg and Williamsport. Johnston has about 15,000 men, and is being rein orced daily. His troops are the very best, are well armed, and have powder and lead a pienty. They will meet snything, and are a match for any-GEN. A. S. JOHNSTON .- Intelligence from Califorensamped around it. At present, his squadron of cavalry, 700 or 800, is at Bunker Hill, to watch the nia states that Gen. A. S. Joussyro e was still at Los Angeles, on the 15th ult. A valuable service of plate has been presented to him by his California friends. It was rumored that he would shortly leave for Texas by the overland route, and would be accompanied by some fifty Californians, who wek service under Jassanson Davis. Gen. Johnston had received information from Washington, that his resignation from the Federal army was accepted. The Rome, (Ga.,) Courier of the 11th inst., says that section has been favored with more rain during the past week, which will almost insure a good crup of corn. The crops in that part of the State, it says, are generally good and forward. There is said to be not much more than about two-thirds of a crop of wheat made to the amount sown, yet there is enough made to do two years. There is a good crop of oats made.
